Ethnicity Reporting Methodology

April 27, 2020

Foothill and De Anza College's Institutional Research and Planning Offices use a Stepwise Segmentation methodology to categorize students into distinct student groups down from the 195 possible categories available in CCCApply.

The basis for the segmenting is the Foothill and De Anza Colleges' Educational Master planning focus on underserved student populations including Latinx, African American, Filipinx and Pacific Islander student groups.

The stepwise segmentation gives priority to the following racial/ethnic groups in the following order:

1. Latinx
2. African American
3. Filipinx
4. Pacific Islander
5. Native American
6. Asian
7. White
8. Decline to State

For example, if a student selects Hispanic: Mexican and African American they will be grouped as Latinx.

Stepwise Segmentation is an approach with a defined group of respondents first "pulled out" into a group and the remaining respondents then broken into other groups in similar fashion. The result is mutually exclusive groups.

While the Stepwise Segmentation approach helps us categorize students into groups that are most representative of those identified in the college's Educational Master Plans, we can disaggregate the data to any level requested including the categories listed below.
